THE BISON 1967

VOLUME 5, FLOYD COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL, FLOYD, VIRGINIA

FLOYD COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL:

WHERE THE ACTION IS . . .

The sun rises lazily during early morning hours and dawns over a dark quiet mansion known as Floyd County High School. The sun is in no hurry. Though it takes time to stretch and yawn, each minute it is ascending higher and higher over this serene palace of learning. Then, as darkness slowly gives way to the brightness of sun rays, this lone structure awakes and prepares herself for another chaotic day. Her silent corridors, her tacit classrooms, her soundless bells — each remains quiescent as the morning hours pass.

Then suddenly all are jolted from this restful state. From within the crowded buses merge clattering feet—feet that are immediately swept into a never ceasing whirlwind of activities: keys unlocking classrooms, chalk scratching against blackboards, locker doors slamming shut, a myriad of innumerable activities. Yet, each pair of feet belongs to an individual, and each individual finds himself engrossed in the various performances of spirit, mind, and body. He becomes as a spoke in an ever-turning wheel—the wheel of action, the wheel which moves within the walls of brick and mortar, to form, to shape, to build, to mold.

and the students fill the halls with a unique clamor.

ACTION . . . AND

To each action belongs a reaction. A winning basketball game conveys ecstatic joy, a perplexing test creates mental frustration, a mischievous exploit resolves in deserved reprimands. The action stimulates; the reaction reflects.

Every student's life is a continuing sequence of varied actions which reflect his knowledge, personality, and opinions. Each test gauges exactly how much a student is learning; each facial expression reveals his opinions; each move he makes and each word he says mirrors a facet of his personality.

Actions and reactions are like a continuous spiral, each dependent on the other. This unending chain reaction constitutes the boundless animation that makes Floyd County High School unique.

Senior English students display varied emotions.

Tantalizing aromas fill the halls...

Adventurous science students perform an experiment...

REACTION

then rush below to pinpoint their results.

the faculty gathers for a lunch break.

For the boys mod-fashion means paisley, polka-dot, or flowered shirts; low-belted and monogrammed pants complete the attire.

Flower-strewn suits complement long and short hair styles.

Shoulder bags dominate the purse world.

FADS IMPLICATE

From spikenards to modern cologne, many distinctive fragrances are complements of the fashion circle.

From England come the "mod hatters," invading our fashion world.

BRITISH INFLUENCE

In the fast-moving world of teenagers, FCHS distinguishes itself as a school of sharp contrasts. From records—Mancini or the Beach Boys—to skirts, high-waisted or hipster, each student expresses himself through the arts of music, speech, and fashion. He develops his own ideas and actions, yet, at the same time, adds to them the novelties that are considered the "latest." These styles invented by the teen-age generation may be in great contrast, but that is all a part of the self-expression and fun inferred in creating these extraordinary fashions.

Sandals and surfer crosses are indicative of the first days of school.

Fashion-conscious girls create a Carnaby Street of their own with hipster skirts and coordinating tops.

Forming the Spread-Eagle jump, a cheerleader sends cries for victory ringing through the crisp air of an autumn night.

Journalism students fold newspapers "hot off the press" as another issue of the County Crier informs students of activities around the school.

In order to establish a well-rounded education at FCHS, numerous extracurricular activities supplement classwork. Clubs, plays, and athletics are only a few that constitute the unceasing action in our Alma Mater.

A student involved in these activities finds himself working scores of untold hours in and out of school. Participation in these outside projects gives him the qualities of leadership and co-operation which are essential to the leaders of the twenty-first century.

CLASSROOM ASSIGNMENTS

Spectators at a home basketball game crowd the halls in an effort to get to the concession stand sponsored by various clubs for a money making project.

ARE SUPPLEMENTED BY ACTION . . .

Prospective members of the Science Club need steady nerves to complete the final phase of initiation.

In order to simulate a pre-historic era for the Senior Play, an art student constructs the head of a mammoth out of papier-mâché.

At pep rallies, integral elements in FCHS's athletic program, competition yells are students' favorites.

Football season means continual practice sessions for sixth period bandmen.

... ACTION AROUND THE SCHOOL

The exodus of students from vacated classrooms and corridors to waiting buses indicates the final revolution of the wheel of action.

ACADEMICS

Brain racking concentration, ocean-deep thoughts, the scratch of pencil on paper—these are characteristics of the mental activity at FCHS. Though physical action is noteworthy, mental action is the determining factor in receiving a diploma, the ultimate goal of one's high school education.

And who instigates this vigorous activity of the mind? It is the owner of a volume-thick grade book, the carrier of a briefcase bulging with test papers; it is the teacher who provides the student with substances to increase his mental activity, and prepares him for mental actions in the future.

ADMINISTRATION

The accomplishments of the school board of Floyd County High School have made FCHS one of the best high schools in the state of Virginia. The industriousness and foresight of a competent staff have helped the school maintain the high standards set up by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the Virginia State Department of Education. The school board constantly tries to make the best better by promoting those issues which best represent the interests of our high school.

The innovation of a Director of Instruction in addition to the federally financed programs—the NYC, the Remedial Reading Program, and Basic Adult Education classes—all supplement the progress of a modern school.

Mrs. Ruby West, Supervisor of Federal Programs; Mrs. Dorothy Casteel, General Supervisor; Mrs. Virgie Weeks, Secretary to Superintendent; Mr. John Houston, Director of Instruction.

Mr. Alonzo Monday, Division Superintendent, finds that his duties keep him busy from dawn to dusk.

The members of the school board are Mrs. Mildred Thompson, Clerk of the Board; Mr. Alonzo Monday, Superintendent; Mr. Marvin Cole, Mr. Benton Alderman, Mr. Gerald Phillips, Mr. Rex Nixon, Mr. R. O. Slusher, Chairman; Mr. B. P. Simpson, Vice-Chairman.

PROMOTES PROGRESS IN LEARNING

The mammoth task of administering Floyd County High School belongs to the Principal Ray L. Hollandsworth. To him fall the responsibilities of making decisions, supervising financial matters, and deciding school policies.

Mr. David Harman, the Assistant Principal, has the duties of making daily announcements over the intercom system and handling the disciplinary problems that arise in the school.

Within the awesome rooms called the office one finds diligent people dedicated to running the school to the best of their ability. Their management guides FCHS to the highest heights of learning.

Mr. Ray Hollandsworth, a recipient of both his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Virginia Polytechnic Institute, is now serving his fifth year as principal of FCHS.

Mr. David Harman, holder of a B.S. from VPI, serves as Assistant Principal and teacher of agriculture.

The Secretary to the Principal, Mrs. Iris Poff, efficiently carries out her numerous duties.

Stacks of papers often surround Mrs. Lorice O'Connor, receptionist and bookkeeper.

SMILE, TEACHERS: YOU'RE ON

When the word "teacher" is mentioned, a particular image always pops into a student's mind—an image portraying one associated only with school and education. Many times students fail to realize that teachers enjoy taking part in the fun and laughter shared in the world of teenagers. Realizing this, the Bison Staff has used a camera to catch faculty members in the act of being themselves. By reflecting their images on paper, students can see that teachers, too, are individuals who are human.

A surprise birthday cake from the student council symbolizes a year to remember for Mr. Hollandsworth.

Anxious Coach Brookman's expression mirrors disbelief.

A teacher's work is never done! Mr. Marshall finds that collecting football admission money adds to his never ending duties.

A smile is contagious and choral teacher Mrs. Mock proves it.

CANDID CAMERA

Happiness at a football game for Miss Agnew is taking advantage of a cheerleader's blanket.

Amiable Mr. Harman finds time to chat with his students before the tardy bell rings.

All is not major and minor chords for Mr. Kaufman as he indulges in a much needed coffee break.

What more could one say? A student teacher is caught in the act of being herself.

Often teen-agers become bewildered as they search for their place in the world. When this happens, it is the guidance counselor who grasps hold of the individual and skillfully leads him through the darkness of indecision.

Leafing through scores of manila folders and college related materials, the counselors seek solutions to unanswered questions found in the world of youths. These questions may concern a class, a future job, or the everyday frustrations of life. Whatever perplexing doubts a student may have, the guidance counselor is always ready to assist him.

The Manpower Development and Training representative captivates a large audience on College Day.

Performing one of her many duties, Mrs. Albert distributes booklets describing College Boards.

Miss Dobyns, counselor for underclassmen, outlines the required courses for an eighth grader.

"ESTUDIO, COGNOSCO," REPLY LANGUAGE STUDENTS

Spanish II students depict a scene from a Mexican bull ring as a complement to their geographical and customs study.

Idiomatic forms, vocabulary, and syntax are all indicative of a Spanish I class.

Courses offered in the field of foreign languages are limited to Spanish and Latin. Students may enroll in these elective courses for two consecutive years; thus, the foreign language program at FCHS can be a four-year study for any individual of the school.

First-year students master vocabulary, conjugations, and basic sentence structures, while second-year students translate Roman mythology or Spanish history.

From experiences gained through these studies, students develop a better understanding of the language, customs, and people of ancient Rome and modern Mexico.

THE U S A

During the two semesters of FCHS's school year, all students find themselves participating in an English course. Whether it be as eighth graders, interpreting the tragic life of Evangeline, or as seniors, becoming acquainted with the heroic deeds of Beowulf, all acquire a valuable knowledge of both literature and grammar through an extensive five-year study.

For those students with specific interests in English fields, the curriculum includes three electives—speech, journalism, and remedial reading.

WHAT'S IN STORE

Portraits of pilgrims aid seniors in visualizing Chaucer's tale of a pilgrimage to the shrine of Thomas à Becket.

Expressions of complete concentration reveal the perplexing problems of advanced algebra and trigonometry.

Students obtain a broader basic knowledge of mathematics during their first year of study.

Multiplication of polynomials quizzes the ability of an amateur mathematician.

DISCIPLINES THE MIND TO REASON LOGICALLY

The mathematics department steers its students on an interesting but sometimes difficult journey through the land of numbers. Students are provided with challenging activities that serve to abate their endless inquisitiveness. Problems encountered in a mathematics class can easily be applied to one's daily life.

Courses in mathematics are offered on diverse levels ranging from Math I and II, a review of basic arithmetic, to advanced math, a recent addition to the curriculum, which includes a course in analytic geometry and pre-calculus.

Simple ciphering is seldom encountered in the second level of a general math course.

Geometric figures extend beyond real numbers to abstracts, planes, and solids.

Fifth-year math students find that systemized charts simplify logarithmic computation.

Mrs. Wimmer's government class is not debating a subject of the future, but one of the present—the high cost of living.

PRESENT, AND FUTURE

Mr. Campbell puts spotlight on a newly organized nation in Africa.

World history classes combine talents, studies, and fun to create an exhibit portraying the military tactics of the early Romans.

History is a tale that never ends. The new grows out of the old and is built upon it. Knowing what has gone before, we are better able to understand what is yet to come.

The teachers of the social studies department help the student acquire the skill to view the conflicts and challenges of the world without prejudice. In order to be prepared for the responsibility that will be a part of his adult life, the student must be aware of the foreign and domestic problems surrounding him. By noting the relationship between these past and current events, he will be able to meet the challenge that tomorrow's society will present.

Civics students become familiar with the why and how of war as they learn what true Nazism is.

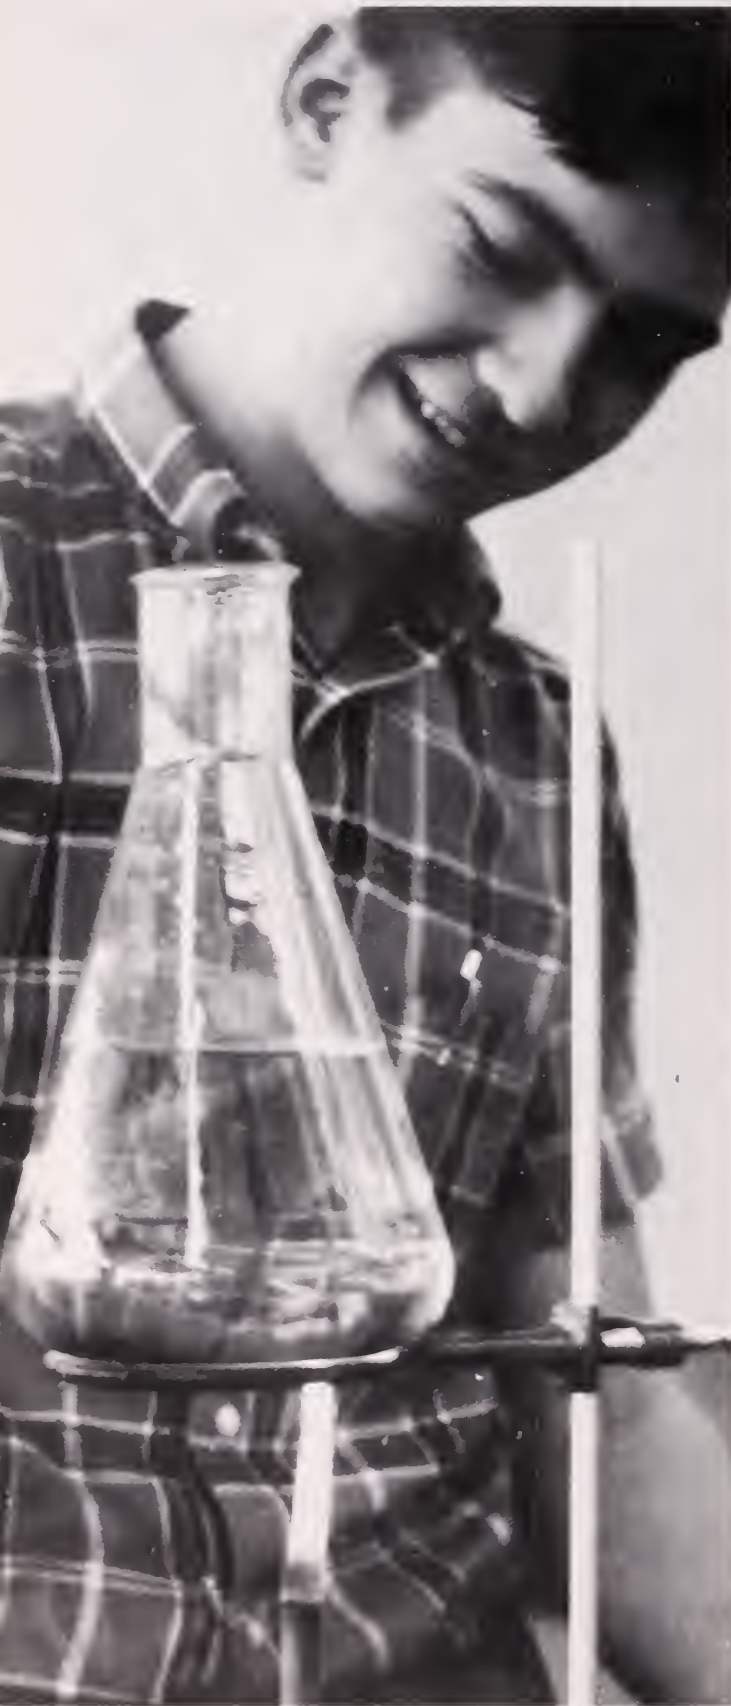

Junior history students move their pens and pencils rapidly across their papers as they take notes from lectures on the Old Dominion.

INQUISITIVE MINDS

Science is a systematized knowledge derived from observation, study, and experimentation. Science teachers stimulate a student's initiative and curiosity, giving him a desire to learn the how and why of life structure and the environments surrounding him.

Sciences I and II introduce biology—the study of a more complex plant and animal life. Chemistry, the science dealing with the composition and properties of substances, opens the door to physics, which guides students in understanding the forces of nature.

Arthur Porter's exultant expression reveals that happiness to a chemistry student is a successful experiment.

Mrs. Truman's aquarium fascinates eighth grade science students, for it provides an "on the scene" view of aquatic animals.

Young scientists marvel at the mysteries of celestial rotations.

STUDENTS A GLIMPSE INTO HECTIC BUSINESS WORLD

Extensive and purposeful drills provide the individual business student with an applicable knowledge of what awaits him proceeding graduation. Through typing and shorthand, the potential secretary acquires perfect coordination of nimble fingers and an alert mind; through office practice and bookkeeping he gains experience in secretarial work. Economics and general business teach the fundamentals of business trends and procedures; whereas distributive education provides on-the-job training in the business world.

Sober faces imply that concentration is needed to solve the problems of Business Math.

Typists increase their speed and ability as they copy words from a screen onto their papers.

Students in shorthand find that quick mental reactions and adroitness are the best tools with which to work.

Attractive displaying of merchandise calls for DE students to consider carefully both the product and the customer.

Industrial Arts students express the versatility and initiative needed when constructing material.

DEPARTMENT FORMS INTEGRAL PART OF FCHS

The humming of a sewing machine, the buzzing of a saw, the clanking of farm machinery—this is the clamor found in the vocational wing of FCHS. Such activities as planning a modern kitchen, making a survey of the nation's trends in agriculture, or constructing a contemporary bookshelf serve as a vent for the development of a student's skills and natural talents; thus, a foundation is laid for many who plan to enter an occupation immediately after graduation.

Filling out record books constitutes much of these future farmers' class period.

To make the study of child care more interesting, young homemakers constructed a bulletin board of their baby pictures.

PHYSICAL FITNESS

The goal of physical education is to strengthen and develop the human body. Students in the eighth and ninth grades reach this goal by participating in strenuous gymnastics and sports activities.

During three class periods of the week, students join together in group exercises and participate in games, such as table tennis or field hockey. The remaining two class periods are used by the eighth graders to study health, whereas ninth graders gain knowledge and skill in administering first aid.

In drivers education courses, students are prepared for their permanent licenses.

When competing in class tournaments, the girls in physical education must remember the proper techniques as well as the rules.

FINE ARTS PRESENT DIVERSIFIED ENTERTAINMENT

"Practice makes perfect" is an adage often heard by students whose classes include either band, choral, or art. The continual clamor of musicians searching for perfection in the melodies they vocalize or produce via instruments fills practice rooms with constant chaos daily. Scales and musical selections must be repeated countless times before directors become satisfied with the sounds produced.

Basic art students, too, find that practicing basic shapes improves drawing techniques, whether contour drawing or sketching.

Ink washes and pastel drawings intrigue basic art students.

Practice and perfection are essential for approaching concert season.

Vibrant voices resound in empty auditorium during practice session.

CLASSES

The combined activity of the 800 "action kids" determines the personality of FCHS. Each individual has original ideas that help make his school unique. This creativity stirs up a never-ending whirlwind of action that includes each person in every grade. Upperclassmen and underclassmen co-operate to develop their ideas for the mutual benefit of both the student and the school.

As you turn the pages of the 1967 Bison, you reveal—and become part of—where the action is.

The occupational file found in the guidance department serves as a guide for seniors.

A new, consolidated high school awaited the Class of '67 when its members entered as eighth-graders. Bewildered at the size of the building, they sensed the nervous excitement of class changes and adjusted to a variety of teaching methods. The faces were new, the school was new—not only to these underclassmen, but to all students attending the recently opened FCHS. This class, the Class of '67, would be the first to graduate from Floyd County High with all work completed at its Alma Mater.

As the Freshmen Rats of FCHS, the Class of '67 better acquainted itself with the school, the faculty members, and the students, thus forming a abundant and lasting friendships.

Stepping upward as Sophomores, it reached the half-way mark of high school life. By accepting and meeting responsibilities, the Class of '67 made preparations for its future role as Seniors.

The Junior Class of '66 displayed outstanding leadership performances; members of the class held four of the five SCA offices, and brought honors to FCHS through forensics.

Then finally, the eighth-graders of '62 became the Seniors. No barriers seemed insurmountable for the Senior Class of '67. Determination and fortitude carried this class through five years of hard work. The 147 members of the Senior Class of '67 accepted all challenges and gained the rewards of learning.

ATHLETICS

"Action, action! We want action!" shout the fans and cheerleaders of FCHS. Whether a kick-off under the field lights or a foul shot on the hardwood, a homerun on the baseball diamond or a high jump over standards, the mighty Buffalo teams strive to keep the action moving. Long hours of hard practice begin with the crash of helmets and continue through the final spring game. Players realize whether practices result in the triumph of victory or the frustration of defeat, their most important goal is advancement.

THE CIVITAN SPORTSMANSHIP AWARD

All attempts for victory proved to be futile for the Varsity Football Team. New River Competition blocked the Buffaloes at every turn. Accounting for their winless season was the fact that most of the squad was composed of last year's JV's and there were but few returning lettermen, thus making the team small in stature and weak in varsity experience. However, the Buffaloes did secure several honors—three players received Honorable Mentions for the All-District Team and FCHS was awarded the good sportsmanship trophy.

NEW RIVER GRIDIRON ANTICS DAZE

Fullback Tommy Trail (30) races past a Pulaski opponent in an attempt to clinch a first down for the Buffaloes.

Astonishment registers in the expressions of unbelieving Buffaloes at the turn of events on the gridiron.

Pre-game drills rid players of built-up tensions in addition to conditioning them for vigorous physical exertion.

ZEALOUS BUFFALOES

Optional plays and diverse strategies must be ready knowledge to the coaches of a football game.

A swift kick by Dennis Harman (75) sends the pigskin down field as another game gets underway.

Tackle Terry Vest (71) stops a Blacksburg Indian onslaught as an Indian ball carrier is buckled under.

Senior Steve Quesenberry (82) surges past the clutches of a speedy Pulaski tackle.

End Steve Quesenberry widens gap for the ball carrier by blocking a Pulaski opponent.

TOUGH GROUP 1-B

Hopes for victory dominate the thoughts of high-spirited Buffaloes as they receive last minute instructions from the coach.

A tense Buffalo quarterback looks wide for a receiver and prepares to throw the bomb in an attempt to gain yardage.

COMPETITORS FIND BUFFS HIGH-SPIRITED

Manager Joe Robertson is stunned by the intense action on the gridiron.

Halfback Carlos Reed (43) scampers toward Buffalo goal line in an effort to get on the scoreboard.

A well-aimed body block by an alert Buffalo gives a Blacksburg Indian a taste of Buffalo determination.

TOMORROW'S VARSITIES

"If at once you do not succeed, try, try again." This was the motto of the Junior Varsity team throughout their winless season. They hustled and hit hard, but small size and number hampered their efforts.

New River competition stifled the squad as is evident in their 14-0 defeat to the Radford Bobcats, their closest battle in this district.

The playing ability of the team improved as the season progressed, thus preparing tomorrow's varsity players for future contests.

SHOW PROMISING ABILITY

Lengthy and fatiguing practice sessions proved rewarding for the eighth grade Buffaloes. Although they had a losing season, the Baby Buffs brought home FCHS's first win in the New River District. Outstanding team cooperation and good offensive blocking were the factors that led the Baby Buffs to their lone win, a 12-0 victory over the Fort Chiswell Pioneers. The season gave the players not only a taste of victory and defeat but also the valuable experience that is the foundation for an effective team for the future.

CHEERLEADERS

Captain Kaye Poff combines experience and know-how to lead the Pep Club in group yells.

A smile from Co-Captain Margie Gallimore brings brightness to a desolate moment.

While keeping a close watch on the pigskin, Nancy King leads the crowd along in an encouraging cheer.

As the teams line up after a first down, Sandra DeHart's face reflects that the opponents have the ball.

Moving her arms in a straight motion beat, Becky West leads the fans in a victory cry.

GIVE SIGNIFICANT BOOST TO SCHOOL SPIRIT

Cries for victory never end when cheerleaders, proudly wearing the colors of black and gold, are there to support the athletic heroes of Floyd County High. Whether it be standing on a muddy field or in the hot, humid air of a gym, whether the game be at home or away, the Varsity Cheerleaders always follow, representing the fans of FCHS.

The J.V. squad of '67 consisted of seven eighth and ninth grade girls. Working hard to gain needed skills, they put their work into action by cheering at home games.

As tension mounts on the hardwood, J.V. cheerleaders wait for the outcome of a foul shot.

Miss Agnew, sponsor of the cheerleading teams, gives last minute instructions to J.V. cheerleaders.

With a big leap, Paul Stuart (52), outjumps his George Wythe opponent to send the tap to his teammates.

Although the Varsity cagers placed an 0-18 record, they displayed plenty of hardboard savvy. Achievements include nearly winning over Hillsville and effectively holding the league's top scorer to a single point. Throughout the season the Buffaloes' determination never waned, but to the dismay of all they remained in the cellar of Group I-B. Because only two seniors held posts on this year's squad, next winter's cagers will have a backbone of experience to lead them through a more promising year.

Gus Howell (34) leads the team out of the locker room to begin the second half of a close game.

Captain of the Varsity Buffaloes, Larry Turman, shakes hands with the Pulaski captains, signifying the beginning of another game.

SENIOR LARRY TURMAN

Averaging 15.5 points per game, Larry Turman finishes the season with two-hundred eighty total points to his credit.

Guarded closely by a Blacksburg Indian, Sophomore Paul Stuart (52) pivots to enter a strategic play.

Locker room action after the first half finds Coach Flick pinpointing the team's mistakes and giving advice for improvement.

PROVIDES MOMENTUM FOR CAGE ACTION

Coach Don Flick calls time-out to set up the strategy for a three-point play.

The impetus of the team, Larry Turman dribbles the ball down court to execute a possible two-pointer.

Roger Mannon finds himself unguarded as he aims for the "golden bucket."

Closely guarded, John Pugh aims high in an attempt to make a field goal against the Blacksburg Indians.

Randy Thompson steps up to the charity strip for two shots after a personal foul by one of the Dublin Dukes.

In an attempt to raise his scoring average, Bill Cook gets in the open to sink his shot.

A toss of the ball and another game awaits the alert Buffalo cagers. Paul Stuart, who played all but four quarters of the season, jumps high to begin a home game.

Pre-game warm-ups get players in condition for action on the hardwood.

HILLSVILLE INDIANS MARKS NEAR-WIN FOR BUFFALOES

Richard Nester (40) outmaneuvers a George Wythe player to add two points to the Buffaloes' score.

The manager of the varsity squad, Larry Thompson, discovers that he is constantly in demand because of his numerous duties.

Behind the scenes, mixed emotions fill the air as Varsity cagers discuss third quarter plays.

VARSITY CAGERS DOOMED BY NEW RIVER LOSSES

Keeping records of statistics and time are the student officials: scorekeeper, David Weeks, timekeeper, David King, and announcer Mike Weeks.

James Vest stretches to keep the ball out of the reach of his George Wythe opponent as he searches for an opening.

Gary Nolen (32) sizes up opposing defense as he attempts to break away from his Dublin opponent.

Games played from the bench can be frustrating for both coach and players.

JV SQUAD BOASTS BEST 1966-67 SPORTS RECORD

Although the JV team posted a 5-14 record, it compensated for its defeats in the invaluable experience gained from playing in the tough and competitive New River District.

Because of a large number of ninth and tenth grade boys trying out for the squad, the coaches instigated a Freshmen team. With the mid-season promotion of several team members to the varsity squad, the remaining Freshmen team played both JV and Freshmen games. Through this doubled experience the team acquired the key to a successful varsity of tomorrow.

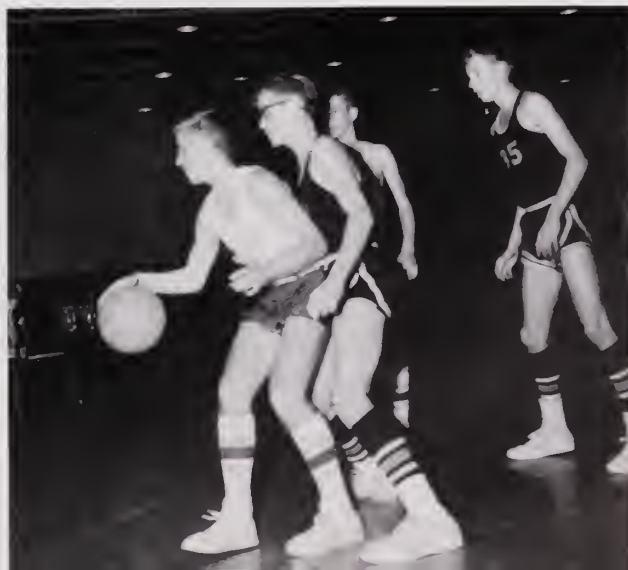

Lyle Wimmer, leading scorer for the JV squad, jumps above a Narrows player for an easy two.

The disclosure of the basketball schedule for the eighth grade cagers brought the enforcement of rigid curfews and lengthy practice sessions for those boys who had made the team. The training for the Baby Buffaloes included dribbling exercises and lay-up and foul shot practice. It is evident that the eighth graders mastered the fundamentals of the game for they closed the season with three wins and six losses. As the season progressed, their improved skills marked them a future team of high caliber.

DISTINCTIVE STUDENTS BRING HONORS TO FCHS

Faculty members selected Margie Gallimore, Leta Enoch, Duane Phillips, and Danny Peters as delegates to Girls' and Boys' State held at VPI during the summer.

The Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizen recipient, Carolyn King, prepares her speech for state competition.

Singing their way past hard competition, Kelly Kidd, Wanda Weddle, Nancy King, Danny Peters, Jerry Weddle, and James Scott became FCHS's representatives to All-State Choral. James Scott will also participate in the All-Virginia Chorus.

Charlotte Naff combined talent and practice to win a seating at All-State Band.

AMATEUR MAGAZINE SALESMEN AIM FOR $4500 GOAL

For two weeks each student at FCHS becomes a part of the sales world as he moves about selling magazines in his community. Throughout the campaign conducted in the school each year, students compete with fellow classmates in selling subscriptions.

On October 15 the annual campaign began with the presentation of class skits demonstrating the prowess of each class at outselling all other classes. The campaign came to an end after $4300 worth of magazines had been sold; part of this money enables the school to supply many departments with new equipment.

Senior Vicki Maberry ended the suspense of who would win the $20 by verifying that she had sold two magazine subscriptions.

As the last prize was awarded to the high salesman, Robert Weddle, student helpers, J. Whitlock, A. Porter, J. Weddle, R. Phipps, give sighs of relief.

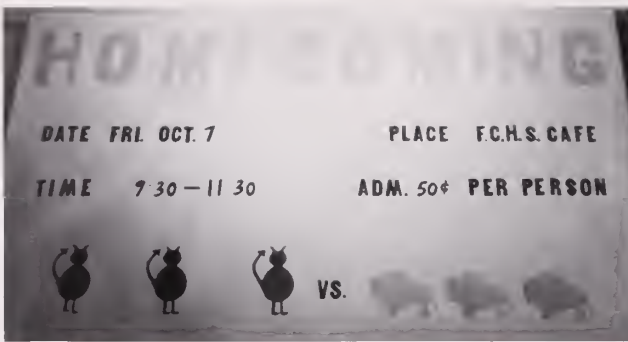

Both sponsors of the campaign, Mrs. Slusher and Mrs. Altizer, agree that the time spent on the campaign was well worth their efforts.

Recipients of the five $5 bills are P. Spence, C. Blackwell, C. Agee, R. Hylton. Not Pictured: E. Cockram.

NIPPY OCTOBER AIR

Homecoming 1966 clashed FCHS's Buffaloes against the Blue Demons from Christiansburg.

Anticipation swept through the corridors of FCHS as October the seventh approached, for this date had been designated as Homecoming 1966. While excitement heightened, students created an atmosphere for victory by fulfilling the numerous tasks associated with the game and the dance which would follow. Even the goal posts brightened as their dull grey colors transformed to glossy black and gold.

From the hard fought game to the traditional dance, Homecoming '66 reigned successfully.

CHARACTERIZES 1966 HOMECOMING FESTIVITIES

Members of the Homecoming were: Larry Janney, Ruby Pratt, Joe Quesenberry, Elizabeth Alderman, Vicki Cromer, Larry Hatcher, Becky West, Linda Aldridge, Randy Thompson, Susan Wimmer, Jerry Weddle, Linda Pauley,

Two hours of dancing succeeded the fourth annual Homecoming Game.

INDESTRUCTIBILITY OF MANKIND IS THEME

At the first play practices quite a few seniors came up with hilarious variations in the script.

Members of the cast combined natural talents and know-how to present the illusion of discord on the Boardwalk.

Make-up, costume, and a change in posture and voice altered Leta Enoch from a teen to an aged gypsy fortune teller.

Struck by disaster, the Antrobus family shows emotions of distress and sorrow.

OF SENIOR PLAY

Each year as a fund raising project the Senior Class presents a play. This year's contribution to the literary world consisted of a comedy by Thornton Wilder, "The Skin of Our Teeth." Ice-age animals, a convention of mammals, and the ravages of war added sparkling high-lights to the three acts of the play.

Innumerable practices led up to two dress rehearsals and then on December 10, the premiere. For the large cast and numerous people working behind the scenes, the play was an exciting triumph for the Class of '67.

Thornton Wilder may have written the script, but Wanda Blackwell, student director; Mrs. Hallman, director; and Margie Gallimore, make-up artist, proved indispensable in creating the characters, scenes, and illusions for the play.

What would a Wilder comedy be without that certain touch of romance?

SELECTION OF MADONNA AND SNOW QUEEN

As the curtains part, clear notes of the Christmas Cantata resound throughout the hushed auditorium. The narration of the Nativity story accented with traditional carols divulges the true meaning of Christmas. For the first time students discover the identity of the Madonna and the Angel. During this quiet and most reverent assembly of the year, the Star of the East casts its brilliant rays upon the girls as a reminder of their high Christian standard and good citizenship, ideals which stood foremost in the minds of the faculty and Senior Class when choosing the recipients of this honor.

As the Star of the East shines overhead, the Glee Club sings the story of the Nativity.

Extensive hours of practice are necessary to perfect the Christmas Cantata.

Solemn expressions on the faces of Madonna, Linda Weeks, and Angel, Judy Hollandsworth, depict the reverence of the Christmas scene.

The straightening of veils and gowns is the last minute preparation before the opening of the curtain.

CLIMAXES HOLIDAY TURMOIL

The downpour of a steady rain, the coldness of a winter's wind—these elements caused the cancellation of the annual Floyd County Christmas Parade. Even though the rescheduled event on Monday night was blustery, holiday spirits prevailed as crowds gathered for the parade. Bringing a highlight to the evening, the Queen and her Attendants reigned over the parade. Their throne was a colossal blanket of snow which the Beta Club constructed with materials the local Women's Club furnished.

Smiles of happiness adorn the faces of Snow Queen candidates Donna Spangler, Carolyn King, and Nancy Voigt.

Nancy Voigt, Snow Queen 1966-67, pauses in the midst of winter surroundings to make a snowball.

SCA COUNCIL, GOVERNING BODY OF FCHS, LEADS

FCHS regards the Student Cooperative Association as the leading organization of the school. Its main objective is to maintain cooperation among the faculty and students by enforcing new rules or by changing old ones.

The SCA selected as its theme this year "Honor First." Through creative posters and discussions held at their monthly meetings, the SCA attempted to curb dishonesty.

Under the guidance of capable officers voted on by the student body, FCHS has had another active year in student cooperation.

Officers: Katie Spence, Secretary; Danny Peters, President; Layne Howery, Treasurer; Vickie Cromer, Reporter; Patsy Phillips, Vice-President.

SCA members Layne Howery and Arthur Porter promote Christmas spirit as they decorate the traditional tree.

In order to guide the student body and faculty in school government, President Danny Peters and Mr. Hollandsworth engage in many discussions, both serious and jovial, throughout the school year.

Locker inspection is indicative of the clean-up campaign conducted twice a year by the SCA.

Bill Cook and Brenda Collins add their suggestions for school improvement to the newly installed suggestion box.

Selected members become disc jockeys for a night at one of the three sock hops sponsored by the SCA.

After a tough basketball game, players and fans relax by dancing to the modern "soul" sounds.

HONOR STUDENTS

Last September the Beta Club tapped and pinned 35 new members who had outstanding scholastic, leadership, and character records. These new members soon found that Betas have a busy calendar for this year's projects ranged from sponsoring the HarvestHop to donating clothing for the needy.

Throughout the year Beta members completed various activities by serving others and by adding a touch of fun to their work.

Beta members discovered what real Yuletide joy can be when they distributed clothes and toys to the needy at Christmas.

AMATEUR JOURNALISTS PRINT TWO MAGAZINE ISSUES

Students interested in the various literary fields find their amateur journalistic abilities put to a test when they enroll in the Quill and Scroll. Members, who must be either juniors or seniors and must rank in the upper third of their class, elected five seniors to guide them through the hectic year of '67.

During autumn the club decided to publish two issues of the Highland Scops. By meeting this goal, the Quill and Scroll accomplished another first in the history of FCHS.

Literary exchanges with other schools aid members in obtaining new ideas for the winter issue of the Highland Scops.

Officers: Kaye Poff, Reporter; Pat Spence, Secretary; Charlotte Naff, President; Richard Nester, Vice-President; Martha Weeks, Treasurer.

Yvonne Vest, Editor; and Mrs. Slusher, Advisor, review the results of the club's work in the winter edition of the Highland Scops.

Quill and Scroll Members: ROW ONE: J. Weeks, M. Eanes, P. Phillips, D. Griffith, M. Hayden, J. Thomas. ROW TWO: C. Naff, J. Weddle, Y. Vest, K. Poff, P. Spence, W. Shortt. ROW THREE: S. Williams, M. Weeks, W. Nixon, D. Weeks, R. Mannon, R. Nester.

THE VOICE OF FCHS IS THE COUNTY CRIER

Few students realize that it often takes more time to print the news than it does to make it. Once every six weeks something approaching a miracle happens in journalism class: after surmounting obstacles of almost unimaginable proportions, FCHS's eager newspaper staff succeeds in getting a paper into the hands of the student readers.

By printing factual events and humorous incidents that occur each day at FCHS, the County Crier holds the interests of all subscribers.

E. Eanes, J. Hall, B. Cook, D. Weeks, and P. Phillips pause for a moment as photographer, J. Conner, snaps a picture.

Jr. Tri-Hi-Y members are overjoyed to find that they have only six more bags of popcorn to sell.

From community projects to club panel discussions, the members of the Junior Tri-Hi-Y, a division of the Young Men's Christian Association, work for a common purpose. At every meeting each one pledges "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character."

Led by a slate of seven Freshman officers and one sponsor, the eighth and ninth grade girls in this organization have conducted such projects as supplying Christmas gifts for Joy Ranch in Hillsville and purchasing U.S. and Virginia flags for the school. By working in their homes, school, and communities, these members strive to achieve the goals of their creed.

FORMS BOND AMONG DIFFERENT RELIGIONS

The planning of monthly meetings requires time and original ideas from the program committee.

HI-Y BOASTS MARKED INCREASE IN MEMBERS

A religious, non-profit organization, the Hi-Y is affiliated with the Young Men's Christian Association. Led by a slate of four seniors and two juniors, the club members work together to promote Christian spirit throughout the school, community, and state. This all-boy organization not only gains invaluable rewards from religion for themselves, but also influences the thinking of non-members.

Judging from the growth of membership and interest displayed by the club members, the extent of their religious influence in the school will expand.

Even "Hi-Y Men" find time to brighten the corridors with a bulletin board displaying their goal.

SR. TRI-HI-Y STRESSES CHRISTIAN CHARACTER

The orientation of two new students from Czechoslovakia, the Voigts, is conducted by Sr. Tri-Hi-Yers.

Senior Tri-Hi-Y, a non-denominational association affiliated with the Young Men's Christian Association, stresses Christian behavior in all facets of daily life. Working closely with the Jr. Tri-Hi-Y and the Hi-Y, the all-girl members make their ideals and high standards a reality.

Distributing presents at Christmas time for hospital patients, welcoming new students, and discussing phases of religion are other projects that keep the members aware of the meaning and purpose of the club.

The bright prospect of attending a convention of the Future Teachers of America requires not only luggage but plenty of note paper.

STUDENTS OF

There is a growing need for teachers throughout our nation. The FTA designates itself as the club to encourage more students to select teaching as a career. By using audio-visual aids, members are able to view the diverse phases of the teaching profession which many students are not aware of. The executive committee plans the monthly meetings around themes that stress the importance of college education.

Though only a small club, the co-operation and participation of its members have resulted in commendable work.

AN ATTRACTION FOR BOOKS DRAWS LIBRARY

The Library Aides is the unique organization for those students at FCHS who believe that "there is no frigate like a book." Composed of sophomores, juniors, and seniors, this organization works to achieve exactly what its name implies. Working during their study halls, the members assist the librarian in many of her everyday duties. From reshelving books and stamping check-out cards, to assisting their fellow students on research projects, the library aides become familiar with all areas in this hub of volume-filled shelves.

Keeping the magazine rack in order is only one of the student librarians' daily tasks.

Originality highlights the library bulletin board, which is changed as often as the weather.

Officers: Jerry Huff, Vice-President; Eunice Layman, Treasurer; Carolyn King, President; Charlotte Naff, Reporter; Patsy Phillips, Secretary.

Sorting and distributing contribution cards for the upcoming March of Dimes Campaign keeps FBLA members busy.

MARCH OF DIMES

To the Future Business Leaders of America falls the task of conducting the March of Dimes Campaign throughout the school. Their responsibilities include publicizing the campaign, typing contribution envelopes, and collecting and counting the amount of money donated. Although much of the job is laborious, FBLA members eagerly undertake the project knowing that the compensations of helping underprivileged children are rewarding. In addition to the campaign the members have discussions about the mercantile world and tour local businesses, thus rounding out their calendar of events.

The Handbook Committee is sure to duplicate enough handbooks so that each FBLA member can have a copy.

A busy agenda awaits the FBLA members, following the devotions of a regular club meeting.

Club members put their typing skills to a test by typing the FBLA Handbook, a book describing the club and its functions.

The science of the Space-Age is a challenging and complex field of study. Students at FCHS who maintain a B average may become members of the Science Club, the organization that gives amateur scientists the chance to express their ideas.

Through various group activities, such as individual projects and club observations, the forty-one active members begin to view the world about them in scientific terms—a very useful implement for today's teen-agers.

At the beginning of the school year the Bison copy editors met to pool all possible ideas for the yearbook theme. After the selection of a specific theme, the remaining work of the staff falls into a definite pattern.

Copy and lay-out editors create lively captions and design pages while the business section moves from store to store soliciting ads.

As everyone works frantically to meet deadlines, the yearbook evolves from its birth in individual thought to its completion in actual form as the 1967 Bison.

Writing original and creative copy keeps the copy editors on a constant quest for new ideas.

Sponsor, Editor, and Section Editors examine numerous cover designs before finally reaching a decision.

On the third Thursday of each month twenty-five students and a sponsor meet and form the nucleus of the Distributive Education program at FCHS. Programs dealing with business administration, marketing, and related fields bring a wide panorama of the mercantile world into focus for members of DE.

While planning an Employer-Employee Banquet, designing bulletin boards, and executing various other club projects, the youths enrolled in this club are preparing themselves for fulltime employment in distributive occupations.

The combined ingenuity and talents of DE members result in a completed bulletin board.

Posters publicizing the DE Club display the industriousness of its members.

Members of the mixed chorus find harmonizing not always easy.

Two groups, the mixed chorus and the concert choir, make up the choral music program. The mixed chorus consists of those who have a genuine enjoyment of singing as well as the ability to recognize musical notes. However, only selected members who demonstrate outstanding talent compose the concert choir.

The repertoire of the concert choir includes Broadway hits, folk songs, and classical pieces.

"With liberty and justice for all," rings out in unison from the concert choir during the annual American Education Week Program.

BAND MEMBERS CONCLUDE PROJECTS IN ORDER

Initiating high-spirited sportsmanship throughout the school, the seventy-seven member band combines talents and efforts to bring new honors and pride to FCHS. Under the direction of Mr. Jack Kaufman, the band performs at football half-times, presents concerts, marches in parades, and competes in District and All-State contests. This year the members were first place winners in the Christiansburg Christmas Parade. In June the band will travel to Myrtle Beach to compete in the Sun Fun Festival.

Band Council: Layne Howery, Donna Spangler, Councilmen; Wanda Blackwell, President; Anne Moore, Head Majorette; Gus Howell, Drum Major.

YOUNG MUSICIANS PRESENT JOINT CONCERTS

On many Wednesdays bandsmen can be found forming a doughnut line and picking up their orders, a project which will provide funds for an over-night trip for all members.

To students in the music department, the euphonious clamor that surges from the auditorium represents the results of their combined talents. Both the band and choir practice year round to provide entertainment for the public. When snowflakes fill the air, a Christmas concert is near; flowers in bloom foretell a spring concert. In addition to these annual concerts both departments perform for school assemblies and graduation exercises. With every performance they bring the many moods depicted in the realm of music.

The Glee-ettes, N. Shankle, N. King, W. Weddle, J. Wood, J. Slaughter, and E. Quesenberry, perform at concerts and public events.

During the Band and Choral concert in February, Choral Director Mrs. Mock briefly introduces each song.

Drum Major Gus Howell presents a stately spectacle as he leads the band during its performance

PEP CLUB MEMBERS ESTABLISH A CONSTITUTION

This year being its first, the Pep Club had many activities to complete in order that it might establish a constitution. Working with the officers and sponsor, a special committee selected thirteen articles to comprise the club's regulations. Based on the main purpose—that of promoting school spirit and sportsmanship, by-laws stated that all members would be allowed to miss only three home games. The Pep Club assisted cheerleaders in establishing animated fan participation for sports events held at FCHS.

In order to have a cheering squad at home baseball games a special committee of Pep Clubmen sets up a schedule assigning volunteer members to attend each game.

Pep Club members chorus spirited cries as they rally the Buffaloes on to a hopeful victory.

Leading the club in group yells, the Pep Men, Bill Freeman, Butch Epperly, Arthur Porter, and Bill Cook, worked to instigate school sportsmanship.

Pep Club Sponsor Miss Kathleen Agnew, and President Kaye Poff, assisted other Varsity Cheerleaders in decorating goal posts for Homecoming.

PARTICIPATION IN NEWLY-ORGANIZED PEP CLUB

The Pep Club bulletin board committee kept FCHS's students informed about athletic events by posting game schedules and victory slogans.

Meeting before a pep rally, cheerleaders and club members discuss club participation at the football games.

Boys who have lettered in one or more of the various sports belong to the Varsity Club. Meeting each month, this group promotes and builds the athletics offered at FCHS.

One main highlight of the club year is initiation — a day when prospective members must perform such feats as serenading the faculty, crawling to classes, and pushing pennies down the hall with their noses. During spring the Varsity Club sponsors the annual Athletic Banquet, which recognizes students for their accomplishments in the field of sports.

Officers: Allen Weeks, Game Leader; Gus Howell, President; Donnie Quesenberry, Vice-President; Ralph Vest, Treasurer; Mr. Brookman, Sponsor; Fred Palmer, Secretary; Steve Quesenberry, Reporter.

Though members of the Varsity Club are not professional singers, many of them found that club initiation required quite a bit of natural talent.

Varsity Club Members. ROW ONE: R. Vest, R. Reed, T. Vest, K. Kidd, W. Radford. ROW TWO: F. Bond, A. Weddle, A. Weeks, B. Freeman, E. Harris. ROW THREE: L. Turman, J. Dunn, F. Palmer, R. Phipps,

S. Quesenberry, M. Weeks. ROW FOUR: W. Shelton, D. Quesenberry, D. King. ROW FIVE: G. Howell, C. Smythers, J. Hall, E. Eanes, D. Phillips, S. Burton.

JOINT ACTIVITIES VITALIZE FFA-FHA CLUB YEAR

Each year the FHA and FFA combine certain individual activities. At Christmas a joint meeting gives FHA'ers and FFA'ers the chance to meet one another and share the Christmas spirit. Members create an hour of fun by dancing, conversing, or just by enjoying the refreshments.

The chief project carried out by these two groups is the selection of an FFA Chapter Sweetheart. Voted on by the FFA members, a select Future Homemaker proudly dons the traditional Sweetheart jacket.

A combo provided mod music for the FHA and FFA Christmas party.

President Glen Goad assists FCHS's fifth Chapter Sweetheart, Shirley Thomas, as she puts on the Sweetheart jacket.

FFA boys become waiters for a night when they serve the FHA girls and their mothers at the Mother-Daughter Banquet held on March 3.

The Father-Son Banquet, one of the main events of the FFA year, gives the members the opportunity to acquaint their fathers with FFA work and recreation.

"TOWARDS NEW HORIZONS" SUMS UP

FHA'ers await the speech of their guest speaker, Mrs. Albert, as the formalities of a monthly meeting are carried out.

FHA girls display their hostessing ability to FFA boys and their fathers at the annual Father-Son Banquet.

GOAL OF EACH FUTURE HOMEMAKER

Affiliated with the State and National Association of Future Homemakers of America, the FHA works for improvement in family, personal, and community life.

Members frequently serve for community banquets held at FCHS's cafeteria. Other activities include an annual dress review and the FHA-FFA joint meeting at Christmas.

The hundred and one girls in this club become familiar with the arts of cooking and sewing which help prepare them for a future. Members are constantly striving to build their hopes into realities by active participation.

FHA girls taking first year Home Economics struggle with pattern guides and crooked seams.

Members of the program committee make plans for February's meeting.

Officers: Audrey Rierson, Recreation Leader; Betty Belcher, Treasurer; Ruth Kenley, Parliamentarian; Shelby Quesenberry, First Vice-President; Shirley Goode, President; Doris Williams, Secretary; Sherry Hallman, Reporter; Judy Harmon, Song Leader; Judy Hubbard, Historian; Nita Wade, Second Vice-President.

Officers: Donald Gardner, Secretary; Larry Jewell, Sentinel; Mr. Lonnie Keith, Sponsor; George Puckett, Treasurer; Benny Gallimore, Reporter; Michael Pugh, Vice-President; Glenn Goad, President; Mr. H. P. Jennings, Sponsor.

Benny Gallimore, Donnie Quesenberry, and Terry Vest, FCHS's crop judging team, announce the winning entries.

The Future Farmers of America, composed of boys studying vocational agriculture, provides opportunities for members to develop competent and progressive agricultural leadership, co-operation, and citizenship. The motto: "Learning to Do, Doing to Learn, Learning to Live, Living to Serve—", reflects the philosophy and spirit of both the organization and its members.

The FFA serves not only as a learning medium, but also offers members opportunities to have fun at such events as the annual Christmas party, summer camp, and the Father-Son Banquet.

AMBITIOUS NEIGHBORHOOD YOUTH CORPS UNDERTAKES

Officers: Margie Gallimore, President; George Puckett, Vice-President; Carol Bond, Secretary and Treasurer; Blanche Cox, Reporter; Mary Webb, Historian.

The Neighborhood Youth Corps, an organization affiliated with the United States Government, assists those students who wish to work during a part of the school day. Sponsored by the Floyd County School Board, the NYC encourages young people to continue their educations, thereby achieving one NYC goal—the attainment of a high school diploma.

The seventy-five enrollees who compose this group work during their study halls or after school as aides to teachers, cafeteria workers, custodians; and in the school store, library, guidance office, and clinic.

NYC Sponsors, Mrs. Albert and Mrs. Dalton, guide the sixty-two members into their first successful year.

NYC Members. ROW ONE: C. Myers, D. Poff, M. Gallimore, J. Higgs, M. Hopper, I. Saunders, D. Trail, P. Huff, L. Reed, K. Sutphin, C. George, W. Sowers, K. Smith. ROW TWO: S. Turman, Z. Turman, M. ## INNUMERABLE TASKS AROUND THE SCHOOL

NYC workers keep the lunch line moving at a fast pace as they serve plates and collect lunch money.

Working during her study hall, Mildred Poff keeps track of those with aches and pains.

Becoming familiar with the know-hows of clerking, a NYC worker takes charge of the school store.

PRESERVATION OF

"Keep Virginia Green" is a well-known slogan to the KVG. Composed of Floyd County FFA Chapter Members, the KVG trains its boys in methods of fire prevention, fire supervision, and conservation of wild life and forests.

Under the supervision of the Virginia Forest warden, members of the KVG squad may be called upon to render their services in event of a forest fire. Proper training in many fields enables the boys to aid their community, county, and state.

KVG crew leaders put club knowledge to a test as they find the circumference of a tree with a Biltmore stick.

Members. ROW ONE: N. Sowers, C. Allen, F. Harris, B. Freeman, L. Belcher, L. Dalton, B. Gallimore, F. Bishop, E. Harris. ROW TWO: L. Jewell, S. Cockram, G. Puckett, A. Weeks, S. Burton, N. Hylton, F. Alderman, D. Hylton, M. Nester. ROW THREE: W. Duncan, D. Gardner, G. Hylton, J. Radford, C. Reed, R. Harris, J. Turman, L. Marshall, J. Quesenberry. ROW FOUR: W. Sumpter, P. Lovell, L. Spangler, B. Neighbors, G. Goad.

VIRGINIA'S FORESTS CONSTITUTES THE GOAL OF THE KVG

Working with the tools of their trade, members of the KVG create a vicarious situation in order to put written knowledge into action.

KVG boys receive last minute instructions before leaving to bring a forest fire under control.

G. Puckett, J. Cannaday, D. Agee, R. Hatcher, J. Greenway. ROW FOUR: D. Belcher, E. West, F. Cannaday, G. Trail, A. Showalter, L. Moran, R. Reece, D. Harmon, M. Davis, R. Harmon, M. Belcher, L. Pratt.

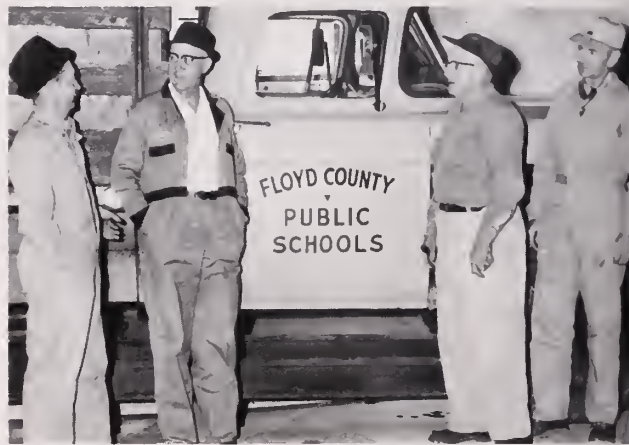

The school's maintenance men, Fred Via and Noah Reed, perform various jobs in order to keep the building and surrounding area in top shape.

VARIOUS CREWS MAKE

Those men concerned with the school's transportation system and the maintenance services compose another department at FCHS. Adult and student bus drivers are responsible for seeing that students have a means of transportation to and from school while the maintenance crew, besides caring for the buses, makes additions and repairs around the school.

Two student divisions of this area, the safety patrol and the parking crew, promote safe driving as they keep order on the buses and direct cars at the school's night events.

J.E. Slusher, Denton Whitlock, Noah Reed, and George Pratt engage in a discussion in which they pinpoint the chores of a regular school day.

Student Bus Drivers. ROW ONE: T. Vest, J. Purdue, J. Wimmer, T. Rumberg, J. Boyd, M. Smith, J. Radford, ROW TWO: D. Quesenberry, T. Trail, K. Whitlock, R. Quesenberry, F. Alderman, E. West, J. Vest, E. Eanes, R. Quesenberry. ROW THREE: G. Bishop, B. Freeman, L. Dalton.

POSSIBLE THE SCHOOL'S TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM

Adult Bus Drivers: Mr. Edward Slusher, Mr. Glenn Reed, Mr. George Pratt, Mr. Harry Hungate, Mr. Sherman Thompson, Mr. Henry Whitlow, Mr. Harmon Williams, Mrs. Ada Lee Williams.

COOKS AND CUSTODIANS SURMOUNT UNENDING WORK

With the implements of their trade, the custodians, Mr. Jimmy Thomas, Mr. Tommy Royal, and Mrs. Mable Via, begin their after-school clean-up duties.

As soon as the last student leaves the premises, the custodians begin their busy after-school schedule, which includes emptying trash cans and sweeping and dusting rooms.

Arriving early each morning to begin and complete their myriad tasks are the lunchroom workers and the custodians. From the sweeping of floors to the preparation of well-balanced meals, these indispensable members of the school system work at many recurring jobs in order to keep the appearance of the school one that the students, faculty, and patrons can be proud of. Their jobs require round-the-clock work because of the numerous extra-curricular activities at FCHS, but they meet each new task with resolution and a friendly smile.

From early morning hours until the first lunch group forms a line, the cafeteria workers plan and prepare well-balanced meals for many hearty appetites.

The cooks, Mrs. Glenna Weddle, Mrs. Louise Hylton, Mrs. Catherine Weeks, Mrs. Margaret Howery, Mrs. Virginia Spence, Mrs. Bula Keith, succeed in their task of feeding eight students every minute during the lunch period.

ADVERTISERS

Observing the various facets of commerce, one views a bustling panorama in which busy merchants head the action of a lively world. Realizing that the clamorous teens who crowd the local stores are a focal part of this continuous cyclorama, many of these merchants have contributed a token of their interest in today's youth.

The Bison Staff would like to express its appreciation to its advertisers. Without their help this book, memoirs of a truly unique year, would not have been possible.

Mrs. Gardner,

I've really enjoyed being in your class these two years. I've really learned a lot from it. I hope to see you again although it won't be at school. I'll miss everyone. I'll always remember this class.

*My husband
I enjoyed Home Ec
so much. I wish that I had taken 5 years of it, now. When a girl plans to have a career & chooses certain subjects for it, she is sure to end up married.*

*I don't and I don't regret it. I'm real happy but I wish
I knew more Home
Ec. It is needless to say how much
I think of you,
Mrs. Hardner. You've been wonderful all year I will many times think about
you Mrs. Hardner, in the future. May
God be with you
& bless your sweet soul. I love you.*

*Love
Betty Henley*

*Mrs. Hardner, Thanks so very much for putting up with me this year. I have thoroughly enjoyed Home Ec. and I'm sure I have profited greatly.
Best wishes,
Marjie*

Mrs. Gardner,

I sincerely enjoyed taking Home Ec. this year. I didn't know what I had been missing all these years in high school. Best wishes to you and your family.

Love,
 Eunice

Mr. Gardner

I don't know how you were able to put up with my class and me in Home Ec. this year but I'm real glad you did. I've enjoyed your class and I think I learned a lot. Best of luck always. May God bless you and yours.

Love,
 Martha W.

Mrs. Gardner.

This year has gone by so very fast and I have enjoyed being in your class very much. I hope that you will continue to be a guide for the many girls who take home made. God bless you and your loved ones. I'll always remember you and the things you have helped me do. Take good care of yourself and please remember the three of us as well as me. Susan, Brenda and Laritta. You have helped us all to learn more about life.

Love
Laritta

Mrs. Gardner,

I have really learned a lot from being in one of your classes. I only wish I had taken more years of Home Ec. I'll miss you ~~last~~ next year.

Love
Peggy

*Mr. Dardner
It has been nice getting to know you this year. You make a sweet home Ec. Teacher and a wonderful friend
Best of luck to you in the future and
May God bless you every day.*

Mr. Dardner,

*I have really enjoyed being in your class - maybe with a bit of luck
my "knack" for sewing will develop into something B-I-G!
May all your dreams

Now, Gordon,
It has really been a pleasure having you as my home economics teacher this year. I'm wishing you the best of luck in the future.
Always,
Brenda Harris

Mrs. Gordon,
I have enjoyed having Home Economics with you this year. You've taught me a lot that I'm sure will be a great help to me in the future.
Best wishes,
Belinda Dickson

Mrs. Gordon,
I think you are a real nice home economics teacher. I hope I get you next year. I have a wonderful summer.
Best wishes,
Mary Ann Connor

OUR HARBOR OF ACTIVITY MEETS

THE END OF ANOTHER DAY

With the echo of the last, receding footstep, activities in the school cease, but the momentum for the wheel of action continues.

Though 1966-67 may mark the completion of his high school education, the student's life will always be guided by the experiences met during the five years he attended Floyd County High. Each student discovers that his institution of learning is truly the hub of his activities. Involvement with his school—whether it be mental, physical, or spiritual—will leave a strong, lasting impression.

To a Real nice Home Ec.
Teacher. Good luck always.

Best of luck

you have all the luck in the future during your teaching years at F.C.H.S.

The very Best of Luck
One of your students
Mildred Buff

Mrs. Gardner

It has been nice being in your class for 2 years.
May happiness be with you all day.

Love
Peggy

Miss Hardner,

During these past two years with you I've learned a lot. Not only about Home Ec. but about what makes somebody a real human. Teachers are alright -- you're one of the alrightest. Maybe someday I'll graduate from College with a degree in Home-Ec., time will tell, I'm much too flighty to know what I want, but if that happens you'll be one of the first to know.

I can only say that I'm sorry I can't finish my Home-Ec. education under you.

Sherry H.

Miss Hardner,
It has been nice having you for a teacher.
But wishes!
Love always,
Alice

To a real nice teacher. I hope to have you again.

Miss Hardner,
you have been one of my favorite teachers for two years now. I have enjoyed having you make and hope to have you next year for a teacher.
Wishes!

Miss Hardner,
I have enjoyed having Home-making under you. These past years you are a real nice teacher. I have learned a lot and I hope to have you again before I finish school.
Love you
Alice
